

Summer School in Sociologies of Education and Higher Education

“Engage with leading scholars in an open laboratory on thinking and researching education and knowledge society in Europe”

Summer School outline

SUSEES is a Summer School in Sociologies of Education and Higher Education open to 20 emerging researchers from all across Europe who intend to consolidate their expertise in studying education policies, practices and outcomes from a EU angle, assuming the European dimension as the privileged point of observation.

SUSEES stems from a synergy between EERA Network 28 ‘Sociologies of Education’ and a well established group of educational researchers that focuses its teaching and research agenda on Europeanisation and the challenges of knowledge society for education.

The first edition of SUSEES will be held at the SAGE Centre - University of Strasbourg from 21st to 24th September 2015 and will be focused on Sociologies of Education and Higher Education. Participants will be involved in an innovative and ground breaking 4-days laboratory where leading scholars from the field will discuss how they use theories and methods in their research and writing.

Participants will be provided with insights on the potential of these resources in producing new research questions and will interact with lecturers in a dynamic and cooperative environment, having also the possibility to develop key competences such as academic writing, with a particular focus on drawing in interdisciplinary references to support the growth of analysis in the education field.

How SUSEES works

A multidisciplinary staff and a plural design strategy

An intensive and dialogic learning environment with a strong commitment to innovation

Every year, renowned scholars will be asked to give lectures, presenting the way they use particular theories and approaches. The scope of the lectures will be to provide participants with new insights on the potentials of those theoretical resources in producing new research questions in studying the European dimension of education.

In order to make the lectures interactive, scholars will provide in advance a syllabus via the SUSEES website in order to enable participants to become familiar with the approach they propose.

The lectures will be followed by work sessions:

a) a laboratory for research imagination on European education where participants will be divided in three groups, and asked to elaborate with the help of three tutors from the teaching staff on the approaches presented in the lectures by producing a conceptual map that link theoretical resources with research questions;

b) a feedback session with the lecturers, the academic coordinator and two members of the key staff as discussants.

Participants will also benefit from a capacity-building seminar on 'academic writing', and from the continuous support of experienced mentors.

How to apply

Who can apply

Emerging researchers (PhD students and/or holders) interested in developing their expertise in the study of education in Europe.

How to apply

Send your CV, a letter describing your current main research project, and your motivation in participating to SUSEES to the following email address: socedu28@gmail.com by 15th July 2015. SUSEES committee will select candidates and confirm acceptance by 20th July 2015. Registration is due by 15th August 2015. SUSEES's activities will be held in English.

Travel and accommodation

Participants will cover their own travel costs. Accommodation from 21st to 24th September, lunches and a social dinner will be covered by the University of Strasbourg and EERA.
